

Question: Which language and framework was this API developed using?

Answer: This API is developed in Python using Flask framework.

Question: Which command should be used to run the API?

Answer: To run the API, the `python app.py` command must be used on the command line.

Question: What is the default address and port on which the API operates?

Answer: The API works at `http://localhost:5000` and port 5000 by default.